DERBY SHOPPING OPTIONS ABOUND ON SOUTH FOURTH STREET
Pop-up shops join popular retailers

LOUISVILLE, KY (April 27, 2018) – Derby visitors and locals will be treated to a wide array of shopping choices on South Fourth Street this year during the week leading up to the big race. In addition to South Fourth Street Louisville favorites like Craft(s) Gallery & Mercantile, Regalo, Block Party Handmade Boutique, The Mysterious Rack: Hats & Apparel, Avenue E, Cellar Door Chocolates and Art Eatables, some new pop-up shopping options will be open Derby Week. The Fashion Impact Boutique by Handbags U Like has moved into the 554 South Fourth Street space, and the Made Market Handmade Pop-Up Shop, which includes 12 makers, has taken over the Chestnut Centre at the Corner of South Fourth and Chestnut Streets across from the Hilton Garden Inn.

The Derby Made Market Handmade Pop-Up Shop is a collaborative effort between the Louisville Downtown Partnership (LDP) and Made Market. “We wanted to activate underutilized commercial spaces in the Downtown, particularly during the busy Derby season,” said Rebecca Matheny, Executive Director of LDP. Made Market features local vendors who produce unique, handmade items. While browsing through the Chestnut Center, shoppers will also be able to enjoy drinks by Monnik Brewery and Quills Coffee.
